Newsletter 08
August 2009

Next Club Round: The next club round will be on Sunday the 16th August. We will be meeting at a NEW LOCATION GREENMOUNT CARPARK at 7:00 am.

NEWS TO DATE:

My God! Last round looked like the Quickie Pro was on again; we had that many people turn up.

Sadly the surf didn't really turn up. We all were chocka block full of excitement of the possibilities the day could bring forth, but alas it wasn't to be... or so we thought. Town was dead flat but the jungle drums were talking there were great banks around if you knew where to look.

So we all stood around talking about where we think would be best until finally someone spoke up, Michael decided that Cabba had a great bank and his leave pass wouldn't last indefinitely, so he made the call and headed off. Many agreed that over the boarder was the spot but where? The first port of call was Murphy's Rd to no avail, then the Bowlo and low and behold the ever faithful Bowlo had the goods again. There was a little bank with A frame peaks lovingly folding over it, ahh finally and to the strains of 'That'll do donkey, that'll do' we hit the water. Great fun was had by all or at least I had a blast, living in Brisbane makes you appreciate even the smallest days. The surfing was of a high quality as usual, even though we didn't have a comp round but my spy The Hairy Monkey on the Hill tells me that Bob 'The wave hound' McNeil would have won the opens, Matty won the Retro even if his short board had two fins more than what it should have, we'll let him take some liberties at the moment because he's heading to Hawaii at the end of the year and we all want a souvenir teaspoon, but from what I've heard over the years he has to be very careful taking liberties over there because you don't want to become someone's little love squishy. Finally, The Hairy Little Monkey on the Hill tells me that the hardest fought win was Cocky on the Old Mal not only did he masterfully rein in his Hayden chariot he also held off a fast finishing Bye to claim his maiden win for the year. Some notable mentions in dispatches: Dad Smith, shall be forever more known as Charlie Harper of the 'Two and a Half Men' fame as he managed to choral the only female surfer, whose dad was not in the water even Kelly Smith came out for a surf, any way this poor local woman was separated away only to be looked after by our Charlie, such a helpful bloke, friendly guy but gees you wouldn't want to be shipwrecked on a deserted island with him. This of course got us all talking if Super 8's was to tread the board and present a 'Two and a Half Men' Super 8's Special who would play the leads...

Should we be surprised that the Hairy Little Monkey on the Hill led the way, he thought he had the complete casting sown up with the following suggestions:

It would only be natural that Dad would be led – Charlie Harper

Alan, Charlie's quieter, wiser brother

Bully would of course play Alan's adolescent son Jake, the closest link to prehistoric man. Other notable appearances were Sal who at 7:00 in the morning arrived in her 'Where's the Party Officer' party pants, it's never too early for bright red hibiscuses and it must have been Tezza's Birthday again because he was late but of course reeked havoc once off the nest and on deck

Other News

I would also like to send my apologies to the members that took off for a week of surfing at the secret spot north of Currumbin and south of Carins. On the weekend I wished them well and promptly told them I hope it goes northerly, swell drops, you get storms and you all come home with a rash. Well if they come home with a rash I obviously have a Harry Potterish magical strength within me that I didn't know about, because it would appear that it did go northerly, the swell did drop and there were storms. On a serious note I hope you all had a great time and next time please God take me with you, because you never know when a powerful magician such as I could come in handy.

The Evans Head Invitational entries are out and should be attached to this newsletter, if it isn't feel free to pull my arm off and hit me with it. If you are interested please contact Jacko as he has organized accommodation from Saturday to Saturday, so let Jacko know if you are looking for a bed. Last year Matty stayed there and if what Jacko tells me is the truth you could be lucky enough to answer one of the phone calls from his harem.

The Last Word:

Aren't you glad I had something to write about, it was almost down to telling you all about being stuck in traffic next two gorgeous lesbians, but that is for another time...

Stay cool have fun and enjoy going surfing with some mates. Now I won't be at this months round so it is up to you all to let me know what transpires so we will have a newsletter next month. Look forward to hearing about the kaos.

The Super 8's Scribe Dean ☺

How bad is this newsletter getting? Hope it made you all smile a little.
